WORLD-CLASS CD/DVD SOLUTION

Captaris pioneered the service bureau use of CDs in 1993 and DVDs in 1998. Archives can be published to a CD or DVD using the integrated tools. This creates a complete stand-alone archive and retrieval system on each disc that includes the data, the indexes, the search engine and a copy of the Alchemy Search viewer program.

To insure document integrity and comply with regulations, all files are archived within a secure container file that is not accessible outside of Alchemy interfaces. This means the archives can safely be stored by your customer on any PC storage device. To control access and protect sensitive documents, the administrator can also add password-protection at the repository, folder or even document level.

WEB ACCESS ADDS NEW BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

Host all of your customer's archive data and serve it up to them by adding the Alchemy Web option (see the data sheet for more details). COLD/COM, PDF report files, scanned images, emails and any PC file format are all supported within the same Web browser.
