

Avanquest®

ProcessFlows

NEWS RELEASE

09/12/2010

ProcessFlows partner with Kodak to deliver enhanced document capture and archiving solutions for Bureaux

Kodak and ProcessFlows have been working together for over 10 years – delivering scanning and document imaging solutions to Bureau Channel Partners.

Businesses will always need to reduce the amount of physical storage space that old paper documents take up, but they also want to save time and be able to find archived documents even more quickly, as well as making sure they are fully compliant.

In order to maintain and grow their business, Bureaux want to be able to offer customers far more than just document scanning/archiving services. Being able to deliver a complete end-to-end, electronic archiving and document management solution will improve the whole archiving/retrieval experience for their customers, as well as giving them a distinct competitive advantage in a more demanding market.

Franca Cognata, Channel Partner Manager at ProcessFlows said; “We are pro-actively working with Kodak to addresses these issues for our Bureau Partners by providing complete turnkey solutions which specifically meet their needs – Scan and Capture ‘Bundles’. The ‘Bundles’ are a ready-to-use combination of key technologies (Kodak scanners and Capture Pro software) which provide ‘plug and play’ document capture, image extraction, management and archiving capability, with the added bonus of a year’s maintenance included.”

Once operational, any one of these ‘bundles’ adds further value to a Bureau’s services proposition. This will help to generate new lines of business from within their existing customer base and meet the increasing corporate demand for multiple-user ‘click of a button’, real-time, instant access to all archived documents.

The Bundles support/integrate with all major manufacturers' scanners - which is good news for bureaux who own a fleet of scanners from different manufacturers, with varying capability etc - so you are quickly able to flexibly batch capture, create, manage and move images and information. The solution is totally flexible and easy to learn, so new operators are quickly up and running after the minimum of training.

Additionally, there is no limit on the number of images you can extract. This is not always the case - some image extraction software has an ongoing per image extraction charge.

Colin Labrum, UK Software Manager at Kodak Document Imaging commented; "This is a natural extension of our relationship as for over ten years Kodak has been working with ProcessFlows, delivering high quality, flexible and productive image capture solutions particularly suited to the demands of the Bureau / BPO environment".

Further information about ProcessFlows can be found at <http://www.processflows.co.uk> and Kodak at www.kodak.com/go/docimaging

Franca Cognata and Colin Labrum are both available for comment.

Press Information:

Alison Hall

Email: ahall@processflows.co.uk

Tel: 01962 835000

Mobile: 07899 986932